"Better" in "You better do it now" is replacing "had better" in "You had better do it now." It thus is an adjective turned into a verb, just as much as "shovel" (originally used only ...

You can certainly say that, effect3. "Better" can be used as a verb to replace "improve" with the same meaning. But I don't think you have improved the clarity of the ...

"The better" is a superlative that only applies when comparing two people or things. "The best" is not wrong when comparing just two, but "the better" makes clear that the ...

You will probably find "better than I" recommended by most grammar books, but "better than me" on the lips of most colloquial speakers.

Whether you use "the less the better," "the fewer the better" or "the smaller the better" depends on what adjective fits for the noun that you are talking about.

So, it's better is correct even without expressing rather than individual ones, isn't it? I think it is better for teenagers to play team sports at school for all the benefits they have ...

Is the first version (I better) grammatically correct? So can we use it instead of I'd better? On the internet people say there is a slight difference between them but I couldn't get if ...

I see "you better do something" as a short spoken form of "you had better do something". "Had" better is an idiom meaning "you should do" and "it would be better if you did".
